THE G. A. R. COUNCIL.

A Warm Meeting at the Grand Hotel Yesterday.

Fort Wayne Blds Heavily for the Encampment for 1886, but Loses It-Encouraging Report of the Monumental Committee.

The Council of Administration, G. A. R., For the department of Indiana, met yesterday afternoon at the Grand Hotel. The meeting was one of the most earnest and enthusiastic which has ever been held, all of the members being present. A good deal of routine work was gone over, and the general condition of the organization canvassed. It was decided that an inspection officer should be appointed by the Department Commander for each county in the State to make a list of all soldiers as furnished by the County Assessor's books. The bond of the Treasurer of the Monumental Committee was fixed at $10,000. The salary of the Department Inspector was fixed at $250 and expenses. A committee, consisting of Assistant Adjutant Stratton, Department Inspector Lewis and Comrade McCullom, was appointed to procure a suitable badge and memorial to be presented to Past Department Commander Nicar, the cost to be $100. It was then decided that no new G. A. R. Posts are to be established in the State except in lowns of 8,000 or more inhabitants, but that the efforts of members shall be to recruit for the posts already established.

Quite a discussion ensued over the question of the place of meeting for the next encampment. The Fort Wayne posts came in with an offer to furnish a page or twopage report in each of the papers, with short-hand reports of speeches, etc., to furnish Associated Press reports of all meetings, a free hall and a banquet to 1,000 persons free ef all cost to the delegates, if that city would be chosen as the next place of meeting. The proposition was generally favored, and, as a further inducement, it was agreed by the Fort Wayne representatives that all soldiers from the southern part of the State should be entertained fres of cost. It was estimated that this would put the Fort Wayne people at a cost of $6,000 or $8,000. A number of speeches were made by different members of the committee, and, among other things, it was claimed that with a representation of 1,000 men, who represent 20,000 soildiers of the State, and which is the largest Delegate Convention meeting in this city, there was less courtesy and attention paid to the G. A. R. State Encampment by the people and the press than is paid to any other State gathering at this point. One member urged that the Legislature being in session, and there being moreover nearly one State Convention of some sort for each day in the year, there was some little excuse for the apperent neglet last February of the G. A. R. It was also urged that being largely of a secret character the press was unable to get reports except from different members after adjournment, and that such reports would necessarily be meager and unsatisfactory. Still another member complained that the 1,000 delegates February State Post went in a body to the Legislature they were flag. This proved to be a great source of complaint, and there seems to be a determination throughout the State to secure more attention hereafter, or else to abandon Indianapolis as a place for State meetings. A vote was finally taken, after pledges were given by local members for a better order of things in the future, and it stood 8 to 7 in favor of Indianapolis against Fort Wayne. The time for the next meeting was then fixed for February, 1886, and Messra. Stratton, Benjamin, Closser, Shover and Cathcart were appointed to make arrangements for the next encampment. The bond of the Assistant Quartermaster

unaccompanied by either band, drum or

General was fixed at $10,000. The Monumental Committee also met and reported to the Council and canvassed their work. The old committee was reappointed for the ensuing year and consists of the following officers: President-G. J. Langsdale.

Secretary-J. R. Carnahan. Treasurer-G. W. Johnson; and Comrades D. C. McCullom and Thomas Bennett.

The committee has in its hands $3,000 and pledges for $1,000 more. The plan of work for the coming year was submitted to the regular Council and approved. It was decided to urge the posts throughout State to hold more camp fires in the interests of the fund. An unexpected interest and enthusiasm in the matter has developed in quarters of the State where the least was looked for, and many who have heretofore been opposed to the plan for a State monument have taken hold with an earnestness which has proven very encouraging. The bill which passed the Legislature recently, providing for county funds for monuments, has also opened up new channels for the State monument which have heretofore been closed, It was decided that the State monument, when built, shall be at this point. The committee goes out again to the work with new hopes, and are confident of ultimate success.

THE POLICE BOARD.

Meek to Get His Walking Papers-Commissioner Morrison and the Lang Resolution.

Police Commissioner Morrison arrived in the city from Hartferd yesterday morning, and at 7:30 last night the full Board met to all that Doris has the finest show in the investigate the charges of drunkenness and | world. You will see the best male unbecoming conduct preferred against Patrolman S. J. Meek by Robert Douglass, the South Tennessee street saloon keeper. The accused and the accuser had any number of witnesses on hand and several of them were not called upon to testify, nearly all of the testimony being of the same character.

Mr. Douglass was examined first. He said that Meek came into his saloon at 355 South Tennessee street, sbout 4 o'clock one afternoon during the latter part of February, considerably under the inflaence of intoxican's, although he did not stagger. He were his regulation cost and badge; was very quarrelsome, and threatened to arrest one 'Dector' Stewart, who had been guilty of no mudemeanor. Meek was in the habit of meeting a young girl ramed Lizzie Rown at his place two or three times a week. They met on the afternoon in question and drank together at his bar. the girl calling for wine while the accused ordered gin. The girl sat on the officers lap known gambler, and his wife visited all the and he kissed and hugged her. They re- railroad offices to learn whether he had purmained in his place about an hour when chased a ticket. Concerning the woman's 66 Meek took her to a restaurant for supper. fact had never seen him take a drink. The next witnesses were Gaorge Havens and J. R. Sheppard, a rolling mill employe. The latter's testimony was rather damaging to Meek, as he seemed reluctant to answer all of the interrogatories propounded, and looked as if he wanted to go out of the Meek was given the privilege of making s statement, and he entered a general depial to the charge. The Board then considered the testimony, and Messas. Murphy and Cottrell were in favor of dropping the accused from the force at once. Mr. Morrison, however, did not favor such action, and it was finally resolved to let the entire matter rest for a day | asking for information concerning L. L. or two, when the Board will ask for Meek's resignation. The Commissioners then agreed to hold a meeting at 3 o'clook this afternoon, when Patrolmen Farrell, Ronacker and of the missing man, whom she says she has Conglin will appear before them to enswer | not heard from for four weeks. The reporter informed the Commissioner that the report had gone abread that he would vote for the above mentioned resolution, and heartily co-operate with Mr. Cottrell in all changes and removals he might desire to make in the working of the Police Department. "Mr. Lang was a very efficient Superintendent before I went East," said the Commissioner, "and," he continued, "I do not think that he has violated his cath of office since then, hence can see no reason why I should vote to depose him. I am not in favor of the resolution and the mover will not get my assistance. As to the cases of the three patrolmen I can say nothing, not having been advised as to the nature of the charges against

It was reported late last night that Mr. Murphy would vote with Mr. Cottrell, but this does not seem reasonable for that gentleman has already declared himself in favor of Lang. It is generally conceeded on all sides, however, that in the event the present incumbent is retired Sergeant Saurers will be promoted to the Superintendency. He is one of the most efficient officers on the force and would fill the office in a creditable

The Great Circus and Menageria Is coming, and everybody knows this fact. All are intimately aware that John B. Doris' new monster shows, three-ring circus, mammoth museum, deep sea aquarium, elevated theater stage, and fifty-cage menagerie, is universally acknowledged to be the greates and grandest conglomeration of startling price when resold after years of careful use. and attractive wonder ever exhibited under canvas. Will positively be in the city on the 17th and 18th of April.

We will give a brief but correct synopsis of what you will see in John B, Doris' new monster moral shows. It would be impossible, however, in an ordinary newspaper report, to give details concerning this mammoth aggregation. However, a few of them can be mentioned, and to there justice can not be done. First, and foremost of all, comes the ponderous and pioneer "war slephant, Betts," who has won over 150 hard fought battles, and is 141 years old. She, although sged, is one of the best performing elephants in the world; was captured in British India, and at one time was the property of Ahmed Shah Durani, She is a wonderful curiosity, and no person abould fail to see "Betts," the oldest elephant in the world. Moore Femily Siberian Roller Skaters, the most skillful lady and gentlemen skaters in the world. Riffig Bey, the dertrous knife-thrower. Katamorpa, queen of the reptile world, who handles the venomous and deadly ferments, we could continue writing each and every attraction, but space will not permit; but we can advise you riders, best femals riders, more athletes, A Full Line of Mohairs, Meltons, the New more acrobats, more leapers, funny clowns, and more animals than were ever exhibited under one management. Remember, also, that this is a three-ring circus, elevated theater stage and fifty-cage menagerie, and with all these unimpeachable facts we would suggest that you go early in order to get good seats. Don't forget, however, that the grand, free street demonstration will cocur in the morning at 10 o'clock. Twenty open dens of wild and performing animals will be exposed to full, free view in the public streets.
